'Everyday' English includes phrasal verbs and expressions as well as grammar and vocabulary. The ability to be able to communicate and make friends using English is essential in all aspects of life not just for enjoyment. For example, successful group work at university and networking in a professional career in English requires a good understanding of general English.

The mix of nationalities and cultures from all over the world ensures that skills in international communication are developed in every lesson. General English challenges and encourages students to use their English in the classroom and in real life.
